MONDAY MORNING, NOV 23 1863

Our Overland Mail

Having become accustomed to the daily mail service rendered by the California Stage Company, our community regards it as a fixed and permanent institution, though we scarcely appreciate how much is done by the Company to secure this to us with remarkable regularity. During the present month, and the most of October, the northern half of the route has been more muddy and intolerable than for many years previous, in these months, but notwithstanding this and its severe effect upon teams and drivers, the mail has constantly reached Portland within schedule time, with only one or two breaks in the connection between here and Sacramento. On the first of December, the winter schedule will begin, but we are assured that the time allowed will not be employed, so long as it is possible to shorten it. During the last winter, for a considerable portion of the time, only ten and eleven days were actually occupied in running through, the Company thereby increasing our mail facilities to its utmost ability, and we hope it will be able to accommodate us equally well the present season.

The advantages of this route to our State and the vast regions north of us, which are being rapidly filled up with an intelligent population, cannot be overestimated, and as after the expiration of the present contract, there is reason to fear that the Company will not be disposed to renew it, except for much more liberal compensation than is now allowed, we trust that the whole Pacific delegation in Congress at the approaching session, will realize and appreciate the necessity of liberal action on the part of the Government, to secure to their constituents the continuance of the benefits derived from the present system.

The route, though very long, and necessarily very expensive, is one of vast importance to all of us, and having been established, it ought never to be discontinued or broken up. The idea, entertained to some extent, that the service might be performed with equal regularity and economy, by dividing it into sections, seems to us a great mistake, chiefly because the condition of the country at this time is such as to make this entirely impracticable. The present system works well, and should not be abandoned unless a substitute is shown to be greatly superior. "Let well enough alone" applies with great force to the existing arrangement, and if the through route is displaced by a dozen short ones, some of them will be very likely to fall into the hands of speculating bidders, who cannot and will not perform the service. Besides this, each year, the roads on the present line, have been considerably improved, in part by the efforts of the contractors, though mainly doubtless through the desire of the people to furnish to the Company as good facilities as possible. This disposition will, we presume, become stronger, and more practical, so long as the main thoroughfare is used as a postal route. If there are sections of the State not well supplied, these can easily be accommodated by side routes, but the main trunk ought to be as at present, without divergence or separation, and as the people have become accustomed to a daily mail over it, and feel its value and necessity, we deem it highly desirable that it should be continued as it now exists, and that Congress should make such an appropriation for the compensation of the contractors as will insure fidelity, dispatch and regularity. We must have the daily mail, and we fear that we shall lose it, unless our Senators, Representatives and Delegates at Washington, with united and earnest zeal press upon Congress, the great importance which the whole community attach to its continuance,—no matter what the cost may be. Postal routes in the South never paid expenses, but the service was never withheld for that reason, while here, though the appropriation necessary for our convenience and accommodation, may seem large in the present state of the country, there can be no doubt of such an early increase of population and business, as shall speedily re-imburse the Government for all outlays in our behalf. But whether this shall be so or not, we insist, and anxiously urge upon those who represent us, that measures be adopted which shall save to us at least all the facilities now enjoyed and if possible, even increase and multiply them.

THE STEAMSHIP PACIFIC.—On account of the delays in her last trip to the North, the Pacific did not leave until the 18th inst, so that as she comes here by way of Victoria, she will not probably arrive until Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. Sacramento papers state that Gen Wright will send up a military escort having the Idaho murderers in charge.

AN IRREPRESSIBLE COPPER-HEAD KILLER.—We have received the first number of a little sheet issued by Rev A C Edmunds, at Eugene City, entitled "The Union Crusader—An Irrepressible Copper head Killer." Its editorials are mainly devoted to a work consistent with its title. May its efforts in that direction be crowned with success.

GRANT AND LEE.—If the report that Lee has taken command of the rebel forces along the line of the Tennessee be correct, and it is quite probable the enemy comprehend the necessity of placing their ablest General in that Department, General Grant, who has already contributed so powerfully to the destruction of rebel reputations, will have an opportunity of extinguishing the greatest military star of Dixie. Shiloh killed Sidney Johnston and toppled down the towering fame of Beauregard. Vicksburg caused the rebels, with characteristic ingratitude, to execrate Pemberton and distrust Jo Johnston. The rapid brightening of the situation at Chattanooga since Grant [illegible] command has evidently [illegible] the rebels [illegible] Lee alone, commands the entire faith of Dixie. Longstreet has the fame of a [illegible] but there are enough of such [illegible] on both sides in this war. [illegible] efforts of Longstreet at Gettysburg and Chickamauga could not budge Hancock or Thomas. [illegible] Generals [illegible] wanted, and Lee is the only [illegible] for the emergency the rebels possess. In the opinion of mere Yankees the Virginia General has been twice discomfited by defeat in two campaigns, but the magnates of Dixie have a different impression, and to look [illegible] to save them from that terrible U. S. Grant, who seems destined to cover the South with his army and his fame.—S. F. [illegible]

NOTIFY THE EXPRESS COMPANY IF YOUR LETTER IS VALUABLE.—The case of Hayes vs Wells, Fargo & Co has been decided by the Supreme Court affirming the judgment of the court below. The decision which is signed by Judges Crocker and Norton, is in effect that a person who places a check or draft payable to bearer, in an ordinary envelope of an express company without notifying the company, and transmits it by their express, cannot hold them in case of loss. The judges also call attention to the "gross carelessness" of plaintiff in sending his check endorsed by himself in bank, thus leaving it in the power of any person who might get possession of it improperly to draw the money, whereas, if it had been endorsed payable to the order of the firm to whom it was sent, it could not have been drawn without authority except by forging the names of the endorsers.—S. F. Bulletin.

RETURNING.—A lady of this place has received a letter during the week from her brother, attached to Burnside's command at Knoxville (Tenn). The writer states that hundreds of Tennesseeans are daily arriving within the Federal lines, and he says there is no room to doubt but that nearly all the Tennessee troops in the rebel service will join our armies whenever opportunities offer and the Administration will pledge to give them protection hereafter. This is reliable intelligence, and comes from a loyal Kentucky officer attached to general Hartsuff's staff.—Horsetown Argus.

GOVERNMENT DEBT AND GOVERNMENT CREDIT.—It is stated semi officially that the Government enters upon the third year of the war with a debt of $1,220,750,000. Acting Secretary of the Treasury Chittenden is reported to have said in the course of his remarks to the Ohio soldiers in Washington, about a week ago, that foreign capitalists were beginning to invest extensively in Government securities. In a single day $350,000 worth of United States bonds were issued on foreign account. The money for the payment of the entire army to the close of November which the Government now has on hand, was advanced by foreign houses.

SQUIRREL SKIN SHOES.—The scarcity of leather in rebeldom is compelling the superior race to resort to some curious shifts. The Whig says: Squirrel skins tacked down to a board, the hair next to the board, with hickory ashes sprinkled over them for a few days, to facilitate the removal of the hair and then placed in a strong decoction of red oak bark will, at the end of four days make excellent leather, far stronger and tougher than calfskin. Four skins will make a pair of ladies shoes. We hear that some of the ladies in the interior counties are wearing these shoes and find them equal in coolness and superior in durability to any others. The longer the skins are left in the decoction of bark the better the leather.'

RAILROAD MEETING.—Last Friday evening a meeting of the subscribers to the Marysville and Portland railroad survey, was held at the office of J Berry, and the following gentlemen were chosen as directors: —— Northrop, of San Francisco; B F Avery, J S Belcher, S G Elliot and C G Hubbard of Marysville, John Bidwell of Chico; Ben Shurtleff, and H A Curtiss of Shasta, E Steele, E Wadsworth, John Andrews and J Berry of Yreka.—Yreka Journal.

The slaveholders of Maryland discover that there is an unpleasant proviso to Mr Lincoln's decision respecting the enlistment of slaves in that State. He assents to their demand, and no more slaves are to be enlisted in Maryland without the consent of their masters. But, if the white slaveholders of Maryland will not permit their slaves to enlist, they must enlist themselves or be drafted.

The Illinois Methodist Conference, which, says the St. Louis Republican, has taken a position upon the question of slavery as radical as that of the most thorough abolition convention of Massachusetts of former times. It announced at its last session in St Louis that there can be no peace, no Union, no safety in the future of these United States, unless slavery is utterly abolished.

It is a singular fact that while not a single accident has occurred to the guns on board the Ironsides and Monitors, five of Gen Gillmore's guns of the same calibre as those used by the navy have exploded or become damaged since the siege of Charleston began. Experienced naval officers explain this by the fact that the projectiles used by the Monitors were "slushed" or greased before being rammed down.

SWEET AND CHAMPAGNE CIDERS.—An opportunity was afforded us, on Saturday last, of testing the merits of some sweet cider, and also some champagne cider, produced on the farm of W P Watson, Esq, at Alder Ridge, Washington County. The first was excellent and no better champagne cider, made from the pure juice of the apple, can be imported, if indeed an article of equal merit can elsewhere be produced. Mr Watson informs us that it is made from a very simple recipe in his possession, which introduces no deleterious properties to affect the flavor of the drink or injure the most delicate constitution. It retains all the pleasantness of sweet cider—for it is nothing else—in a clarified state.

DROWNED.—During the last upward trip of the steamer Onward, plying between Oregon City and Salem, when near the latter place, an immigrant by the name of Wright, whose family was on board, walked or slipped from the guards into the river, and sank before assistance could be rendered him. It being at dusk of the evening this sad occurrence may have resulted from his being a stranger on the boat, and deceived by the shadow of the guard on the river's surface. We could not learn where he was from.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A young man named Moran, for a long time a cabin waiter on the Wilson G Hunt, who had been unwell and remained here for a few days, feeling better on Saturday morning returned to duty. On arriving at Vancouver, however, he felt quite ill, and leaving the boat he walked up to the hotel, and in a few hours—ere the boat returned from the Cascades—he was dead. We did not learn the immediate cause of his death.

The rebel Government talks of paying the soldiers liberally after the war. Its liberality reminds us of the poor fellow's will. 'I have nothing, I owe everybody, the rest I give to the poor.'

The Sanitary Commission

We publish below a report in part of the proceedings of a mass meeting lately held in San Francisco for the purpose of reviving the zeal and generous exertions of the people there in behalf of sick and wounded soldiers together with the appeal of the Committee which applies with equal force and reason to the citizens of Oregon. We shall also give to our readers an article each morning this week tending to show the necessity of renewed efforts on their part, as well as explaining the work of the Commission. We hope all will be attentively read, and that they will lead to a liberal response to that part of the Governor's proclamation which commends this cause to popular sympathy and support. The plan of monthly subscriptions meets with special success in California. Can it not be made more general in Oregon?

Commander Selim E. Woodworth, U. S. N. [illegible] announced in happy terms by the Chairman and received with great enthusiasm and applause, many of the audience rising and swinging their hats in the air. The sailor speaker spoke at length of the practical workings of the Sanitary Committee [illegible] alluded to the Mississippi [illegible] the good it had accomplished.

[illegible] the $2,000 asked of California per month divided among [illegible] contributed per [illegible] which California and California [illegible] enough to pay. To talk up to Mr [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the wealth that is [illegible] about our streets [illegible] Montgomery street who could pay the whole amount asked from their incomes and then have as much left as was good for their families and explained that Jay Gould and Cerry would do the business exactly.

The Rev. Thomas Starr King was the next and last speaker. In [illegible] Mr King assented the idea that the Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements was his friend, really whatever their professions might [illegible] by their having appointed him to speak last in order to choke him off. They had appointed to speak before him the very men to [illegible] over the whole [illegible] of patriotism and touch with skilful fingers every chord of feeling which an audience might be supposed to have. He complimented all the speakers who had preceded him, only complaining that they had left him hanging by his throat before an audience with nothing to say. But he was obstinate in his purposes and would not be driven from the stage bodily and so had determined to appear spiritually, speaking not in his own name but as a medium. The medium then spoke at length skipping from theme to theme after the manner of all mediums and leading the audience from grave to gay in rapid relief. Russia he complimented in warm terms, saying that on the throne of that nation the Emperor Alexander is the grand Imperial Abolitionist of all history. (An endorsement the Emperor would scarcely wish tacked to his back if he intended to travel south beyond the Union lines just now.) Alluding to the Sanitary Association of this coast Mr King said we had sent $400,000 in gold to suffering soldiers at the East—$485,000 rather through the blessed influence of Providence and Salmon P Chase and these two were a team when we got them harnessed together. Extracts from Dr Anderson's letter were read, the reverend doctor himself being complimented as the first in San Francisco to run up the American flag on the spire of his church. A list of the various articles of food distributed at one time through the hands of the Sanitary Commission was also read. Among the articles mentioned were 850 pounds of codfish; divide that by one and it would show how many Massachusetts soldiers were on that battle field. Lower down came some hundreds of cans of egg nog concentrated; divide those figures by one and we could tell how many New York soldiers were on the field. Looking over the names of the noble ones who were busy among the hospitals before Charleston we could see at once who the real swamp angels are. Then the speaker became a medium for Dr Bellows, and said it only needed a few clicks over the wires to bring that gentleman out here on the next steamer if it were asserted that his presence were actually needed. It was lucky for the pockets of California that he did not come, for 'there were an Antoney' etc.—most readers can supply the balance of the quotation. Here the speaker read the following extract from a letter received from Dr Bellows in acknowledgement of a service of silver which had been presented him by a few gentlemen of this city:

I wish I could convey through you to all the generous constituents of the Sanitary Commission in California a sense of the boundless gratitude felt by my honored associates (each as worthy as I of your praise,) and by the nation for the unrestricted munificence of your State and the whole Pacific coast to the needs and sufferings of our national forces. You have builded even better than you know. You have meant nobly and greatly, but your bounty has worked mightier and more blessed things than you intended. It has enabled our Commission to move on a scale of grandeur which has raised the national standard of mercy, expanded the American conception of beneficence, provoked millions to good works, created vast emulation, made us a generous rival of the Medical Department of the United States Army, which has been stung to redoubled exertions by our practical criticism, and rendered us an inspiring example to other organizations of mercy electrified by our prodigious success. Without your half million of dollars we should have had a pinched and lank career. With it we have moved boldly, effectively, triumphantly, and carried along by sympathy the whole nation in the cause of humanity to our sick and wounded fellow-patriots in the field.

For my fortunate part in this business I have only to bless God and to thank you and California, which I do with a full and humble heart. Faithfully and affectionately yours, HENRY W BELLOWS.

The following telegraphic despatch that day received, was also read:

NEW YORK, November 7, 1863

The blood of 200,000 noble youths slain by sword and pestilence cries from the ground of the Atlantic States to day: "Save our brothers still in arms for the protection of our mothers, sisters and wives." The blood of many thousands more must yet be added to these to save a country for our people. But shall one man more die needlessly of sickness or wounds or die unsolaced while an ounce of gold or a pound of silver sags a Californian's pocket, or a drop of blood swells his patriotic heart? Your noble hearted State in golden tones has answered No. A half million witnesses attest her sincerity and have made her name and fame the wonder of her sisters. But that half million dollars is already eaten, drank, worn out, and has passed into the life blood of renovated soldiers, or gone up in the breath of dying heroes blessing the benefactors that soothed their death pangs. Shall the blessed work languish or stop? Let California, the provoker of our great spirit [illegible] [illegible] the pain assuaging and blood [illegible] of this friendly yet ne'er sorry war answer. It depends on her. Fling to us the other half of the golden apple or give us $30,000 a month while the war lasts and we will be responsible for the utmost that human skill, [illegible] and experience can do to prevent needless suffering and to save imperilled life. What San Francisco says and does to day will settle the question. The men of the Atlantic States east and west, and the men and women of the Pacific have been the great allies of the United States Sanitary Commission. For the sake of our brave boys in the field God keep them so to the victorious end. Trustingly and lovingly yours,

HENRY W BELLOWS,
Pres't U S San Com and Almoner of California.

The Soldiers Relief Committee in San Francisco have made an appeal to the people of California in behalf of the Sanitary Fund, from which the following is an extract:

During the last four years the more than $500,000 have been sent from the Pacific coast for the relief of sick and wounded soldiers [illegible] under the National flag. SEA SIDE RESORT.—During the past few years, the want of some convenient summer resort upon the sea coast has been seriously felt, not only by invalids, but by many well to do families residing in different localities in the interior of our thriving State. Merchants, wearying of the dust and turmoil of the city, professional men, during their leisure, and farmers, pending the harvest of golden grain, have yearned for some not too distant spot whence they could inhale the salt airs, and bathe and tumble in the briny surf which laves an ocean shore. For several summers past parties have repaired to the only available spot which our rugged coast presents near the Columbia's mouth, taking with them tents and all the rough and crude utensils absolutely indispensible to camp life, and there enjoyed, to the limit of their leisure or inclination, the scenes and sounds which such spots inspire. To those who have quaffed from the full goblet of pleasure to be found at Nahant, with its immense hotels, and all the concomitants of most refined luxury, its baths, its fishing parties, clam bakes, "nipper" or "conner" and tautog fries, fish chowders, sea bird shooting, shell gathering, racing matches over its smooth and unimpressible three mile beach, and all the diversified amusements which there abound, or who have "done" Newport, the absence of such a spot contiguous in point of time to the homes of their late adoption has been a source of no little discontent. We are glad to know that the great desideratum is attainable through the sagacious enterprise of Messrs Elwood & Reed, who have purchased the spot above alluded to, and will proceed immediately to erect a suitable hotel for the accommodation of summer sea side visitors. The land claim was purchased of Mr Thomas Reddick, and is situated at the foot of Clatsop Plains, in the bight north of Tillamook Head, and is a most admirable location, the ridge upon which the establishment is to be built being twenty-five feet above the highest tide, which breaks only twenty rods distant. A full view of all the in coming and out-going steamers and sailing vessels, as well as the broad ocean in front, Tillamook on the left and the Columbia river bar and more distant, Disappointment light house on the right, can be had from the site. It can be reached in less than twenty hours from Portland, and we have no doubt, when the hotel is in readiness for the reception of visitors, a small steamer will be employed to run between Astoria and the landing place, inside the bar, and some three or four miles distant from the hotel. Oysters, clams, good fishing grounds, on ocean and creeks, hunting grounds for elk, deer, bear, &c, to say nothing of geese, ducks, brant, curlew, snipe, and "peeps," are plenty, enough to tempt an Epicure, a Nimrod, or an Izak Walton, all within sight of the proprietors' domain.

RAIL ROAD MEETING.—We are glad to learn that Mr Turley, who spoke so acceptably last [illegible] upon the subject of the Pacific Rail Road will address our citizens again this evening at the Court House. We hope there will be a general attendance and that the effect of the meeting will tend to awaken a more ardent [illegible] in the prosperity of Oregon, so far as it depends upon a wise system of internal improvement.

COIN ON HAND.—We are requested by O. [illegible]ley, Esq, City Treasurer, to announce that there is coin in his possession to redeem all warrants presented for payment and registered prior to October 1st, 1863.

THE CHIEF ENGINEERSHIP.—Mr Joseph [illegible] announces himself a candidate for the office of Chief Engineer of the Portland Fire Department for the next year.

Liver Complaint Cured.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, February, 10, 1859.

MESSRS. A. L. SCOVILL & CO.—Gents: I have been afflicted with the LIVER COMPLAINT for more than four years, attended, the most of the time, with constipation of the bowels, and, at other times with diarrhea. During the last year I had a constant pain about the liver and shoulder blade, and, in my left side, with great uneasiness when I lay upon it.

I took DR. MOTT'S LIVER PILLS, according to the direction, for three months, and am now a different man. I had taken them but a short time before I felt great relief. I am able to do as much work as most men. My health is now restored. Yours truly, DAVID PORTER.

BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA that I procured of your agent in Hayfield. I gave him a dose and bathed his side, as per directions, and it eased the pain, and after the applications the pain ceased, and I have heard no complaint since. I consider the Panacea a medicine that every family should have, and one that I do not wish to be without.

The First Work of Michael Angelo

The distinguished painter sculptor and architect Michael Angelo Buonarotti, was born in Tuscany in 1474 He was put out to nurse to the wife of a sculptor and may therefore be said to have sucked sculpture in his very milk

He entered the studio of Ghirlandajo at the age of thirteen and performed feats unequaled in the annals of art He seldom had his work corrected, as his copy always surpassed the original His master being a superior man himself, and capable of appreciating talent wherever found encouraged his pupil in these developments of youthful excellence Not so with his companions They could not look upon their young rival with complacency for genius of this character could not be suffered to exist in a lad of thirteen years Michael Angelo had therefore to endure their ill treatment

Once our youthful artist took occasion to criticise the design of one of his fellow workmen, and thereupon he received such a blow from the exasperated man that it broke the cartilage of his nose—from which cause it remained crooked through life

One day Angelo entered the grounds of the Medici He there beheld treasures of art which Lorenzo the Magnificent had collected, such as he never beheld before Struck with their antique beauty, an instinctive jealousy prompted him not only to imitate, but to excel these exquisite productions Procuring a block of marble he divested himself of his outer garment, and seizing a chisel and hammer he began the outlines of a faun's head

The studio of his former master was now deserted by him, to the no small gratification of his fellows who rejoiced that they were at last rid of their detested and hated rival, whose only crime consisted in his surpassing talent.

One day as Michael Angelo was finishing his faun's head, a man of about forty, exceedingly plain in feature, and dressed with the greatest negligence, stopped opposite to him, and silently observed him as he worked Michael Angelo labored with ardor, without taking the slightest notice of the unknown, for whom he cared about as much as for the dust that fell beneath his chisel

When he had given the finishing stroke to his work, the young man drew back after the manner of artists in general, so as better to judge of the effect of his performance, with which he appeared perfectly satisfied This was apparently the moment awaited by the spectator of the scene, who, slowly advancing, laid his hand on the young sculptor's shoulder.

"Friend," said he with a smile "will you allow me to make one remark?"

Michael Angelo turned round with assurance and with an air combining contempt and insolence

"A remark! You?" said he slowly

"Or, in other words, if you like it better, a criticism," continued the stranger

"On my faun's head?"

"On your faun's head," quietly answered the unknown

"And pray who are you sir, who thus assume to criticise my labor?"

"It can matter very little to you who I am, if my criticism is correct," said the stranger

"And who is to decide between us which of the two is right?"

"Yourself, if you wish it"

"Well, sir, let us hear—speak!" said Michael Angelo, folding his arms with an air of defiance

"Have you not intended to represent the grinning head of an old faun?" asked the stranger

"Certainly—that is easy enough to be seen."

"Well," suggested the critic, smiling, "where did you ever see an old man with a perfect set of teeth?"

The young man reddened up to the eyes at this remark, and bit his lip with vexation The criticism was a just one, and waiting till his interlocutor had disappeared, he took the chisel, and, with a couple of blows, he knocked out two of the faun's teeth As it was now growing late, he resolved to return the next day, and put a finishing stroke to his work

The following morning, at an early hour Angelo repaired to the garden but, to his great surprise his faun had disappeared, and in its place was posted the stranger of the day before

"Where is my head?" angrily asked the young sculptor.

"It has been removed by my orders," quietly answered the unknown

"And who are you, sir who thus dare to give orders in the garden of Lorenzo the Magnificent?"

"Follow me, and you shall learn," said the stranger

"I shall certainly follow you, and oblige you to return my faun's head"

"Perhaps you will be glad to let it remain where it is"

"We shall see"

"We shall see"

The stranger took the way to the palace with the same calm and tranquil manner and was preparing to ascend the grand staircase when the young man, seizing his arm, with an exclamation between timidity and anger, said

"Where are you going sir? Do you think to penetrate thus with impunity into the apartments of the prince? Depend upon it we shall get turned out"

But the unknown, without paying the slightest attention to what the young man said went on and crossed the antechamber The servants rose at his approach, and the guards saluted him with respect

Michael Angelo followed, with increasing uneasiness

"Can he hold some station in the palace?" thought he, rather uneasy at the idea "In that case I am wrong in speaking so freely Well! after all, my faun belongs to me and he must return it it is my work At all events, I can pay him for the marble"

The unknown traversed the gallery and the saloon without the least impediment

"The devil!" thought Michael Angelo "can he be the prince's secretary? If so I shall be in a nice predicament, after my impertinence to him Oh, what a blind fool I have been!"

The unknown now opened the door of a chamber regally furnished, and rich with objects of art of the greatest value

The young sculptor paused on the threshold speechless and trembling, his boldness had quite forsaken him, and he gave himself up as lost He had certainly offended a person of immense power, when that person could so unceremoniously enter the private apartments of Lorenzo de Medici, without even being so much as announced As he endeavored to stammer forth a few words of apology he raised his eyes, and, to his astonishment beheld his faun's head resting on a rich pedestal

"You see, my friend," said the unknown in the same kind tone "that I have removed your faun from the garden but to put it in a more worthy place"

"But good heavens!" exclaimed the young artist assailed by a new terror "what will the prince say when he sees this wretched attempt of mine amongst so many precious objects of art?"

"The prince approves of it and as a proof of what I say he extends to you his hand in token of his approbation Come, my young friend will you not take it?"

Any other would have fallen on his knees at the prince's feet but Michael Angelo moved even to tears, could only hang his head while he cordially pressed the hand which was held out to him

"From this day forth consider yours if as one of my family, my young friend" said the prince, "you shall work as you wish you shall dine at my table and be treated as my son Go to my wardrobe and let them give you a handsome violet mantle equal to that worn on festive days by Peter and John of Medicis"

"My lord" answered the young sculptor much affected "before I accept your precious favors, allow me to run to my father that he may share my happiness he disturbs my love of art and has turned me out of doors as a worthless and idle son—I would return to him humble and obedient I know my father though inflexible he is just and perhaps when he knows what has happened to me, instead of regretting it he will have a right to be glad of my fault And from this day forth I may proudly present myself not only at home but everywhere for has not Lorenzo of Medicis the greatest man of his time conferred on me the title of artist?"

"'Tis well my son" replied the prince "return to your home and to your father and announce to him that my patronage shall be extended to all his family and also that I permit him to present himself whenever he wishes at the palace to demand of me whatever office shall best suit his taste"

INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable) hosts of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous adventurers have opened up[on] suffering humanity the floodgates of nostrums in the shape of poor whisky vilely compounded with injurious drugs and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters

Beware of the innumerable array of alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles [illegible] which instead of curing only aggravate disease and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair

Hoofland's German Bitters

Are not a new and untried article but have stood the test of fifteen years trial by the American public and their reputation and sale are not rivalled by any similar preparation

The proprietors have thousands of letters from the most eminent

CLERGYMEN,
LAWYERS,
PHYSICIANS,
CITIZENS

Testifying of their own personal knowledge to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters

Do you want something to strengthen you?

Do you want a good appetite?

Do you want to build up your constitution?

Do you want to feel well?

Do you want to get rid of nervousness?

Do you want energy?

Do you want to sleep well?

Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?

If so use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN Bitters

From Rev J Newton Brown D D Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general through distrust of their ingredients and effects I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefit he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters prepared by Dr C M Jackson of this city because I was prejudiced against them for many years under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker Esq for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests and for encouragement to try them when suffering from great and long continued debility The use of three bottles of these Bitters at the beginning of the present year was followed by evident relief and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before and had almost despaired of regaining I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them

PHILADELPHIA June 23 1861 J NEWTON BROWN

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters put up in quart bottles compounded of the cheapest whisky or common rum costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed

This class of Bitters has caused and will continue to cause as long as they can be sold hundreds to die the death of the drunkard By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind the desire for Liquor is created and kept up and the result is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters we publish the following receipt Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whisky and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that HOOFLAND'S German Bitters will cure nine tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life In the lists published almost daily in the newspapers on the arrival of the sick it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed We have no hesitation in stating that if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes whose life to use his own language "has been saved by the Bitters"

PHILADELPHIA, August 23d 1862

Messrs Jones & Evans—Well gentlemen your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life There is no mistake in this It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades some of whose names are appended and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case I am and have been for the last four years a member of Sherman's celebrated battery and under the immediate command of Captain R B Ayres Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy two days in the hospital This was followed by great debility heightened by an attack of dysentery I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer "State of Maine" from which I landed on the 28th of June Since that time I have been about as low as any one could be and still retain a spark of vitality For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach Life could not last under these circumstances, and accordingly the physicians who had been working faithfully though unsuccessfully to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer frankly told me they could do no more for me and advised me to see a clergyman and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital Mr Frederick Steinbron of Sixth below Arch Street advised me as a forlorn hope to try your Bitters and kindly procured a bottle From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now thank God for it getting better Though I have taken but two bottles I have gained ten pounds and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months for gentlemen I am a loyal Virginian from the vicinity of Front Royal To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life

Very truly yours, ISAAC MALONE

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement as we had despaired of seeing our comrade Mr Malone restored to life
